Partner with Europe's leading platform at the intersection of security, innovation and technology.

The Global Security and Innovation Summit (GSIS) has quickly become a recognised platform at the intersection of security, technology and innovation. The inaugural edition in 2025 brought together leading voices from business, politics and academia, over 200 start-ups and more than 40 international speakers. Across two days in Hamburg, GSIS demonstrated the power of collaboration and fresh thinking in times of transformation.

Founded and jointly owned by the International Institute for Strategic Studies (IISS) and Hamburg Messe & Congress (HMC), GSIS is more than a summit. It is a global platform that connects decision-makers across continents and industries. Supported by the international network of IISS offices in London, Berlin, Washington, Bahrain and Singapore, and by HMC representatives in more than 40 countries, GSIS bridges ideas and communities that shape the future of security and innovation worldwide.

The next GSIS will take place on 9-10 December 2026 at the CCH Hamburg, preceded by a special pre-opening evening on 8 December. It will expand in scope and ambition, building on the success of 2025 with new partnerships, broader thematic tracks and stronger engagement across the global innovation ecosystem.

For partners and sponsors, GSIS offers more than visibility. It opens doors to influence, credibility and collaboration at the highest level. Joining GSIS means taking part in a global conversation about how leadership, innovation and technology can strengthen security and trust in an uncertain world.
